

Welcome to Ucluelet, BC! While you're here, we welcome you to reconnect and immerse yourself in our surroundings, creating your own stories and memories of Ucluelet. By working together, we can protect our rainforests and marine ecosystems to continue operating in harmony with nature. So we kindly ask you to do your part to help keep Ucluelet natural and beautiful for those that follow.

WELCOME TO OUR HOME. WE ASK THAT YOU;

- Be kind. Everyone is easing back to 'normal' at their own pace.
- Have patience. Our businesses want you to have the best experience, but some are short-staffed. So enjoy your surroundings and revel in the fact you're ON VACATION!
- COVID safety plans may vary between businesses and could still be in place, helping continue to keep you and our community safe, so please respect their wishes.
- We love dogs, but please leash your pooch; it's for their safety and others' comfort. And pick up their poop. No one likes that smell all day on the bottom of their shoe.
- Beach and campfires are prohibited until further notice across the Province of British Columbia. Our Fire Chief is a stickler on this one, and our forest thanks you.
- · Bring reusable bottles/mugs/masks and cutlery to help keep single use items out of landfills.
- Take your garbage with you. Sadly, fed wildlife is dead wildlife, and we love our West Coast bears way too much to see them harmed.
- Stay on the trails while exploring. While the lighthouse and rocks look enticing, they can be slippery and rogue waves can literally sweep you off your feet!
- Also, the Wild Pacific Trail is a footpath, sorry cyclists. There are bike racks at the trail entrances, though.
- Please respect our First Nation neighbours who may not be ready to welcome non-community members back just yet.
- Remember, if you're in the Pacific Rim National Park Reserve and new to surfing, take a lesson. If you don't want to, stick with the surf pack. If surfers aren't in an area, you probably shouldn't be either. Riptides are strong and difficult to free yourself from.
- The water's pretty chilly even in the summer. So a wetsuit is recommended if you're going to dip more than your toes in the ocean.

Now that the boring rules are out of the way, the next page has some great ideas to blow off some much-needed steam.

WHAT TO DO FIRST?!

- Book your accommodation or campsite in advance don't show up without a reservation. We don't want your holiday to start on the wrong foot.
- Our Eco Collect & Release Aquarium is like no other; go check out the touch tanks, marinedebris art installation, or the giant Pacific octopus!
- Ever gone sport fishing on the ocean? Now is the time! Salmon and halibut seasons are open.
- Try something different love canoeing? Try kayaking in the harbour; better yet, book a day or3-day trip to the Broken Group Islands. It's like no other experience on the West Coast.
- Take a boat trip or wildlife tour the harbour and open waters in the Barkley Sound, enjoying the sights and sounds of local wildlife. Bears, whales, sea lions and eagles, oh my!
- Have you been ziplining? Stop in before you get to Ucluelet and rip through Kennedy River canyon.
- Paddleboarding or surfing? Tough choice. Take a lesson or a tour and see which you prefer.
- Rent a bike or take an e-bike tour, exploring Ucluelet on 2 wheels instead of 4.
- Beautiful galleries showcase local and regional artists; from carvings to paintings and ceramics, you can feel the local inspiration in these creations.
- Food!! So many great places to eat, from bakeries, BBQ, Korean and Mexican-inspired menusto seafood trucks, vegan and refined meals by local chefs. You won't be disappointed anywhere you go.
- Beverages!! Enjoy Ucluelet brewed beer or a tasting at our award-winning local distillery, bothnot to be missed. On the tamer side, locally roasted coffees and carefully blended teas arewonderful any time of the day.
- Trails, Trails, and more Trails! The Wild Pacific Trail stretches almost 9km along Ucluelet'scoastline. The Pacific Rim National Park Reserve has trails that lead to beaches, loop bogsand have you wandering through the rainforest.
- Beaches. Ucluelet has some lovely beaches to hang out and read a book, watch thekids explore for marine critters along the shoreline or soak up some sun. You can also spendthe day on one of the many beaches, including Long Beach, in the Pacific Rim National Park Reserve. Squish your toes in the sand and watch the world go by or build sandcastles with the kids.

After the year everyone has been through, give yourself enough time on the west coast, so you don't feel rushed. We want you to rest, relax and reconnect with yourself, your loved ones, and nature.
